The President Does Things
Geologists Bring News
Eskimos Look, Wonder
Short History of Flying

President Roosevelt, who hopes that 6,000,000 men will return to work soon after Labor Day, organizes a drive for more jobs, better pay, shorter hours, something like the war drive for selling bonds to get money for nations cutting each other's throats in Europe.

If Americans show half as much willingness to finance prosperity at home as they showed in financing wholesale murder abroad, the President's plans will go through.

If they do not show "willingness" the President may find some other way of getting results.

He knows that the people want something done and will support his efforts.

Geologists gathered in Washington give all sorts of interesting information, and incidentally reassure you, if you are worried by gentlemen occasionally announcing the end of the world.

The sun, according to Dr. Lane, while using up its mass at the rate of 3,700,000 tons per second, is so big that "only two-thousandths of the total will be used up in ten million years." Many things should be accomplished in that length of time, considering that all human history about which we really know anything, goes back less than 10,000 years, or a one-millionth part of the time that lies immediately ahead of us.

In Greenland Eskimos come trekking great distances to see Colonel Lindbergh and his wife, who are making air maps of a northern route to Europe. The Eskimos, with their wives, sit by the hour and gaze at the plane after it has come to earth, then go back to tell about it, and are not believed.

It is probably compared in size with a wild goose, biggest bird in Greenland, and roaring with the noise that a goose makes. That the plane is a living being, carrying human beings around, the Eskimos probably do not doubt.

Twenty-four years ago the Frenchman Louis Bleriot, flew across the English channel, startling the world and the British especially. When that happened, after Lord Northcliffe, owner of the London Daily Mail, had offered 10,000 pounds' reward for such a flight, England's greatest defense became meaningless. Napoleon sat on the edge of the channel waiting for the wind to change, but never crossed. Now any boy can fly from the continent, land in England, and if undeterred, drop what he pleases on any city.

Northcliffe, by the way, told the writer that having offered the 10,000 pounds' reward, he got "Lloyds" to insure him for a trifle against paying, and Lloyds' paid the 10,000 pounds to Bleriot.

Real flying began when Orville Wright flew, with a heavier than air plane, 120 feet. Then Bleriot flew across the channel, then Lindbergh flew the Atlantic to Paris. Now Wiley Post, in a little more than seven days, flys around the world, the Italian air admiral, Balbo, is flying home on the return trip to Italy, with his fleet of airships in perfect formation.

When progress starts it moves rapidly.

Teachers of dancing are told by Arthur Murray, who knows, that the public has wasted more than $1,000,000 learning dance steps that it never can use, because nobody knows how to dance them or wants to know how.

Dancing is old, much older than men on this earth. Jungle fowl danced to please their females; the heavy elephant has a sort of courtship dance, it is said. Primitive men did war dances, stamping their feet, using up as much physical energy as possible, and religious dances, as when David danced before the Ark, developed steps no longer remembered.

Dancing is born in the brain to represent certain emotions, also born there.

It is hard to create any really new dance that is not hopelessly artificial.

General Balbo's flight with twenty-four planes from Italy to Chicago and New York shows that Italy understands flying machines.

And now Nicaragua has made a contract with an Italian company to provide air mail and air passenger service to every Nicaraguan flying field.

Some American company seems to have missed an opportunity.

We decided to go off the gold basis, and went off, and the world said: "Their dollar is not as good as it used to be."

The dollar fell in exchange value. Prices went up. The cost of living increased and there were no more dollars in circulation than there had been before we left the gold basis. Perhaps some way will be found to make dollars more plentiful, enabling those that want to do business to borrow. A cheap dollar, with dollars still hard to get, is not ideal.

Carmel Is Taking Lead As Music and Dramatic Center

Society Fosters Musical Education for Children; Notables in All Lines on Summer Program; Artists Exhibit Work at Gallery

Carmel has in all probability the greatest opportunities for hearing the finest talent in the world ever offered in a city of this size.

This summer especially has seen and is yet to see a long list of notables, while Carmel claims as her own Michel Penha, Nathan Abas, Abraham Weiss and Ralph Linsley.

Children's Concert

Again the Carmel Music society comes to the front with an offering looking forward to the musical education of Carmel's citizenry. They are beginning now on the ground floor and when this generation of youngsters reaches maturity they will as a matter of course carry on.

The first Children's Concert will be given Tuesday afternoon, August 8, at 2:30 and will probably be held in Sunset auditorium.

The kind of music children love will be featured, but the adults will like it too, and they as well as the children will love the little stories Michel Penha will tell of the meaning of selections and the interesting things connected with them and their composer.

On the afternoon's program, Marilyn Doty, 10-year-old San Francisco violinist, will play Saint Saens Rondo Capriccioso, accompanied by Ralph Linsley. This number alone will be worth the price of admission but there will also be four numbers by the Monterey Peninsula orchestra and the Carmel Junior string quartet, recently formed and coached by Abraham Weiss will give one selection. Members of this quartet are Grace Knowles, first violin; David Hagemeyer, second violin; Nancy Bragg, viola, and Jean Crouch, 'cello.

The Carmel Music society urges that the adult music lovers not only make it a point to be present themselves, but that they bring at least three children with them. The admission price is only 50 cents for grownups and 25 cents for children. Junior associates of the Carmel Music society will be admitted free.

Junior Associates

Is your child an associate member of the Carmel Music Society? If not let us suggest that you have him or her save her pennies and nickels toward this aim. The membership fee is only one dollar and the benefits will be felt by the child now and down through the years. "Belonging" does something to a child that enables them to fight their way better. It is the desire of the society to enlist 100 children in the associates and this is surely a small number for a town the size of Carmel. Don't delay in this matter. Any member of the society will take the application, or you may phone to the Denny-Watrous gallery, or better, call there. Members of the junior associates have their names printed on the back of the program alongside of the older folk. Give your child a chance, or perhaps a neighbor child whose parents feel they can't invest the dollar.

Carol Eberts Veazie

A very interesting program has been planned at the Denny-Watrous gallery for Saturday evening, August 12, when Carol Eberts Veazie will read, "Alien Corn," Sidney Howard's latest play.

Mrs. Veazie comes from the Neighborhood Playhouse in New York City and is spending the summer here. She took the part of Mrs. White in "Paris Bound" at Community Playhouse last week.

Amaco at Community

"Amaco," Martin Flavin's latest and most sensational play will have its premiere in Carmel tomorrow night.

This long awaited production is being staged for the first time since Flavin wrote it last year in his Carmel Highlands home. Following its presentation here, the play will be taken east for a fall Broadway production.

Carmel residents are being given the privilage of seeing "Amaco" before any other audience in the country. And what a gala opening night it will be for Carmel.

From San Francisco, every leading dramatic critic will be on hand to review the show. From Hollywood, a group of directors and studio scouts interested in the possibility of screening "Amaco" have also made reservations for the opening.

The cast is one of the finest ever assembled for a Carmel production. Every prominent literary and artistic light in the village has been drafted in for the show including Harry Leon Wilson, Lincoln Steffens, James Hopper, Frederick Bechdolt, Edward Weston, William Ritschel and many others.

The leads will be taken by Nestor Paiva, well known actor; Victor Kearney, David Matzke, Albert Van Houtte, Mayor John Catlin and F. O. Robbins. Edward G. Kuster is directing the production.

Capacity houses are expected every night and for the first time in the history of the Carmel Community Pyayhouse standing room tickets wil be sold. Carmel residents are being urged to make their reservations at once. Tickets are being sold at a booth accross from the post office and at Staniford'd drug store.

Radiana Pazmor

Although it is some little time distant, it will be well to keep in mind that Radiana Pazmor, whom the critics pronounce the greatest contralto in the world, will appear at the Denny-Watrous gallery August 26. This noted singer, from New York City, is spending a few weeks on the Pacific Coast.

Jean Charlot

Another feature of great interest to lovers of art will be the apparance of Jan Charlot, famous Mexican-French painter, sculptor, archeologist at the Denny-Watrous gallery next Sunday, August 6th, where he will give an exhibition of his work and at four o'clock will give a lecture on Mexican art. The speaker will be introduced by Senor Bravo, Mexican consul.

The public is cordially invited. There will be no admission charge.

Forest Theater

"The Forest Theater," observed a member of the audience which witnessed a performance of "The Merchant of Venice" last week-end, "was obviously designed for the purpose of giving Shakespearian plays."

"Well, you might put it the other way," replied his companion, "and say that such plays were plainly written for the divine purpose of being presented in the Forest Theater!"

Which may be said to represent the keynote of the public's delight at the appropriate woodland setting of the famous play which starred the well-known stage and screen actor, George F. Marion, in the role of Shylock. The magnificent dramatist has been enacted thousands of times but it would not be easy to name an amateur stage which lent a greater majesty and picturesque charm by physical setting.

Shakespeare remains one of the best sellers and one of the most popular "stage hits." Not all the classicism with which scholars have surrounded his magic name

MARILYN DOTY, Child Violinist who will play in Children's Concert, Tuesday Matinee, August 8, at 2:30 p.m.

"Paris Bound" Is Hit With Carmel Audience

She was "Paris Bound" to get her divorce, but circumstances altered and Sibly Hitt Leonard as Mary Hutton decided not to get a divorce after all from her husband, Jim Hutton, played by Lucian Jones.

It was a clever play, although written practically 100 per cent from a man's viewpoint (his own wife generally excepted.- It was cleverly done, too, and has received much praise from those who saw the performance.

Miss Leonard entered into character so definitely that her very contour and carriage seem to change from that of a bride to that of a matron of six years, and mother of two children. When she was happy, her audience was happy with her, and when she sorrowed, it grieved with her.

Arthur Hately has been named by a great many as being most excellent in his role of father-in-law, attempting to smooth the way for his son's happiness by trying to get his daughter-in-law to take a broader outlook on life, his own life having been wrecked on the rocks that threatened the young couple.

Equal honors go to Lucian Jones, Carol Eberts Veazie, Byington Ford, Ruth Norris Thompson, Jean Hall, Peggy Converse and Tilly Polak.

Byron Foulger did a fine piece of directing and also took part in the play.

If one could find fault with these productions by the Community Players it would be in the lighting and make-up. With no foot-lights, the actors often take positions which make their necks appear deformed or covered with terrible blemishes. One wonders whether the director ever sits in the spectator's seat to see how things look from that angle.

If it is desired to follow the fad of no footlighting, the audiences hope something will be found to take the place of that old-fashioned art.

It is to be hoped that Mr. Foulger will overcome this defect in his next production.

CALIFORNIA ANDREWS SHOP OPENS TODAY

Many of her friends will flock in today to the opening of Miss California Andrews' shop in the Little Log Cabin on Dolores street.

Miss Andrews and her helpers have been working at a high rate of speed to get things ready both inside and outside the building. A new flower box has been placed in the little front yard which adds to the attractiveness.

Miss Andrews has used pale green as the predominating color for her decorations.

Dr. and Mrs. Frank C. Wolf of Fresno have taken a cottage on Camino Real for a few weeks.

Mrs. Clare Hollingsworth of Hatton Fields is spending several weeks in San Mateo.

Everyone Invited To Amaco Opening Night

There are some seats left for the premiere of Amaco to be shown at Carmel Community Playhouse under the direction of Edward Kuster.

Contrary to report, due to a misunderstanding, only a very few invitations were sent out, and these almost entirely to strangers on the peninsula.

"I am very sorry about the error," said Mr. Kuster today. "I want as many of my friends as are able to get seats to be present. There are still some seats left and I hope you will do what you can to make it known that the opening night was not intended to be 'strictly invitational.'"

However if you miss the premiere, you have other opportunities, as the play will be repeated August 5, 10, 11 and 12.

"Amaco" bids fair to be the big sensation of the year in peninsula entertainment circles.

Street Department Is Investigating Corners

With the two automobile accidents last week caused by blind corners, the city has become aroused and the street commissioner has ordered the city to use all possible effort to abolish these danger spots and they will ask full cooperation of the property owners on the corners affected, Seventh and Carmelo and Ninth and Carmelo particularly coming into the spotlight at this time.

One resident claims to be able to count off-hand fifteen accidents that have occurred in that vicinity.

Cutting out the foliage and shrubbery may be forced upon the property owners but it is not at all likely that this will be necessary.

Carmel has a zoning law which forbids anyone to put a fence on a property line more than four feet high. If a fence higher than that is erected it becomes a "structure" and is governed according to the ordinance regulating buildings. Therefore, any fence more than four feet and up to six feet, six inches, must be set back at least fifteen feet from the front street and three feet from the property lines at the sides of the lot.

It is hoped that all haste will be made to clean up the danger corners since they are responsible for the suffering of Miss Jean Leidig and the narow escape of many others.

Byron Newell has gone to Los Angeles for a short visit. During his absence, R. G. Leidig has been host at the Manzanita Club.

Ted Leidig has received word that his application to enter Stanford this fall has been accepted.

Mrs. R. A. O'Connor and children of Chico are spending their vacation in the Bathen house.

Jean Leidig Improves From Serious Injuries

Miss Jean Leidig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Leidig, is improving in Carmel hospital from her injury of a week ago, when the car in which she was riding crashed into another at Carmelo and Seventh. Miss Jean received a broken shoulder and very severe bruises, especially about the chest, causing bronchitis.

A crowd of young people, about forty in number, were preparing for a beach supper and when Ted Watson, driving Ray Draper's car, and accompanied by Miss Beverly Tait, met Jean up town he took her in with them to join the others. The three young people were riding in the front seat. Watson and Miss Tait were bruised but not seriously injured.

Man Dies While Sitting In Car

Harold Katschinski, 45, died suddenly Monday as he sat reading in his automobile in front of his residence in this city.

The deceased has been a resident of this city for the past three years, having come here in hopes of regaining his health. His widow, a son and a daughter live in Berkeley.

Mr. Katschinski was a favorite with the children of Carmel, as he always had time for a kindly word with them, and made it a point to buy the magazines and papers they were selling.

Friends here thought he had seemed in better health of late. He will be sadly missed.

Carmel Merchants Are Falling In With N R A

If co-operation by Carmel merchants and businessmen will aid materially in the National Recovery Act, the country will soon be out of the rut and running merrily along better than ever.

No complaints are heard although the merchants are especially busy falling in line with NRA suggestions and paying the state and federal taxes.

NRA emblems decorate every window of business places affected by the new rulings and there seems to be a feeling that at last "somebody" is really doing something."

Carmel Artists Will Exhibit At State Fair

William P. Silva and Maynard Curtis of Carmel, Carmel Sun has been informed, will each exhibit a painting at the state fair at Sacramento this fall. Mr. Silva informed the editor that he had not yet definitely decided upon which of his pictures he will send.

Any artists will please note he must send his painting in by the tenth of August, and that only one painting from any artist will be hung.

First, second and third prizes will be awarded.

Enthusiastic Audience Hears Penha Quartet

Playing to the usual well filled house, the Penha Piano Quartet in Tuesday night's concert, fulfilled the hopes of Carmel's music lovers. Their first selection was Beethoven's piano quartet, Opus 16, played beautifully.

It was followed by Jirak's Divertimento, a modern composition written in 1925. Jirak, a Bohemian composer, was born in 1891, and though the Divertimento receives modern treatment, and is written without key, it is strictly conservative.

Faure's quartet, Opus 15 closed the program. It is frankly a romantic piece, strongly in contrast to the Jirak music.

In his position as assistant in the agricultural department of a bank in Los Angeles, he has been transferred from the main office to the Fresno branch. Thirty-two various types of insurance companies are being organized in California, establishing an all-time record for any one period of time. This was shown from the records of E. Forrest Mitchell, state insurance commissioner, who declared the unprecedented activity in forming new underwriting organizations undoubtedly has been inspired by the excellent record of California's home insurance companies in weathering recent economic storms.

Orange county has 71,402 acres of commercial orchard lands, according to a tree census, said to be the most complete and accurate tree record of any county in the State, just released by County Assessor James Sleeper. There are 56,693½ acres of oranges, 6313 acres of lemons, 7225½ acres of walnuts and 1170 acres of avocados in the county, according to the census. Of the entire acreage, 56,836 is classed as bearing and 14,566 as non-bearing, either because of being in poor trees or being under bearing age.

Most of the sharp and almost continuous price advance in farm products the past two months has been in the grain and cotton list, but gains in such less prominent lines as wool, hides and potatoes have also helped the general market. Prices of livestock and dairy products continued to lag behind those of grains and other crops. Feeders' position is less favorable because of rising cost of millfeeds. Farm products as a group have reached prices about three-fourths the pre-war level. Prices of store goods and wages of farm help have advanced moderately. This is the bright light of the summary of the federal market News Service Review for the week.

The analysis does not take into consideration stocks, bonds and solvent credits. Signal Hill was incorporated in 1924 and comprises 906 families.

Attorney General U. S. Webb has ruled there is no legal obstacle to the state incurring indebtedness to the federal government in the latter's economic recovery program particularly under the $3,300,000,000 public works program. In seeking an opening on the operation of the state's emergency measure for the rehabilitation of schools wrecked in the Long Beach earthquake in which the state will act as an agent for handling federal loans, Alfred E. Lentz, acting secretary of the board of public building reconstruction, points to constitutional prohibitions against the legislature creating an indebtedness of more than $300,000.

Protesting the tax on wine proposed by Assemblyman Clare Woolwine of Los Angeles, President Federspiel of the Grape Growers' League, said the levy would "stifle the industry just as it sees daylight after 10 years of poverty." "Such a State tax, on top of a Federal tax and dealer licenses, would mean that the taxes would pyramid to a point where they would greatly exceed the value of the commodity." The joint legislative committee on taxation recommended a 3-cent tax on 14 per cent wine, 10 cents on 14 to 21 per cent, 25 cents on 21 to 24 per cent, 24 cents on carbonated wines and cordials, 48 cents on champagne and $1 on distilled spirits, but it was not accepted.

NEWS NOTES of Carmel Valley, Pebble Beach and the Highlands

Carmel Valley

On Saturday afternoon at four o'clock at the home of the bride's mother in Carmel Valley a very quiet wedding will be solemnized when Miss Virginia Lee Rockwell will be married to Mr. Robert Elliott of Calamesa, California. There will be only a very few of the close friends of Miss Rockwell present. Miss Dorothy Humphries is staying with Miss Rockwell at present and will remain until after the wedding. Mr. Henton Brennan is also there. The bride and groom expect to make their home in Calamesa after the wedding. Miss Rockwell is very well known here in Carmel and the congratulations of many friends will follow her.

Mrs. J. H. Stewart and her daughter returned last Friday from a visit to Mrs. Stewart's parents in Pomona, Calif.

Joseph Stewart, Jr., or more familiarily known as "Joe" also returned last Friday.

In reference to a statement not long ago that oyster shells had been found as far inland as Bert's ranch; they have been found up on "Los Cunejos. Miss Blomquist has a petrified oyster that was found on their ranch.

Miss Adda Blomquist and her sister Mrs. Charlotte Cahoon were in Salinas for the day.

Miss Blomquist gave us a bit of data regarding Tassajara Hot springs. When the Indians used to roam at large over fertile Carmel Valley at the end of their season's hunting they used to take the deer that had been killed to Tassajara Hot Springs where they used to dry it. As we all know, deer meat then becomes "Jerky." That is the meaning of the words Tassajara. It is surely a much prettier name than just jerky.

On the Blomquist Ranch, called "Los Cunejos" most of the peaches and cherries were destroyed by the squirrels and birds. A regular campaign of poisoning squirrels is carried on every year. Another problem of the farmer for Mr. Roosevelt's attention.

Mrs. McAdoo and her small son Frederick are spending a week in the Conrad Immelman cottage before Miss Kent takes possession.

Miss Peggy Porter of Robles del Rio, returned to Los Angeles, Sunday. Miss Porter is attending summer school there. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Porter who are year round residents of Robles del Rio.

Miss Sally Scarlett is in Sacramento at the home of her brother. She will probably be home in another two weeks or more.

Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Pierpont of Monterey were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Handley Wednesday evening at their home in Robles del Rio.

Miss Eunice Scarlett has returned home from a visit to the Big Sur where she had a most enjoyable time. Her sister Irene is remaining there for the balance of the summer.

Mrs. Kilpatrick of Carmel Highlands is with Miss Ada Kent at the new house which Conrad Imelman built in Robles del Rio. They will be there for the rest of the summer.

Lorin D. Lacey, his wife and family from Monterey are expecting to move into their new home in Robles del Rio this week. They will probably remain there through the summer and perhaps longer.

The regular meeting of the Home department of the Farm Bureau scheduled for Tuesday of this week has been postponed for another week. The place of meeting has not been changed. It will be the home of Andrew Stewart at 2 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. John Gascon Evans have returned from New York to their home in Carmel Valley. They are living on the Search ranch on the Jamesburg Road. Both of them being writers they have sought and found a delightfully retiring and quiet place in which to pursue their work.

Oscar Viere and Bob Wilson are the new managers of the Robles del Rio clubhouse. They have charge of all the social events which are held at the clubhouse as well as preparing and serving the many delicious meals served there, luncheon and tea is served daily to those making reservations. Messers Viere and Wilson have taken the place of Mr. and Mrs. Keanney who were the previous managers at the clubhouse.

Mr. Bradford Ropes of 42nd Street fame and Mr. Roswell Black, play-boy of New York, motored to San Francisco last week-end. While there they were entertained by many friends and relatives. On their return to Highlands they had the disastrous experience of traveling through a 25-mile zone at 45 miles per hour. When stopped by the motorcycle policeman and reprimanded for the error of their ways, Mr. Black said, "Just where is this town and 25-mile zone." (So sorry we have no Empire State skyscrapers.)

HUGH COMSTOCK DESIGNS EFFICIENCY RESIDENCE

One of the most attractive things seen in Carmel recently is the model for a Spanish style residence made by Hugh Comstock and on display in the window of his office on Dolores.

The house is built on a quarter inch scale, making the huge 28x40 foot living room, 7x10 inches. Besides this room there are a kitchen and a two-car garage, servants' quarters, and guests' and owners' apartments consisting of two rooms with baths.

The window grills are clevery formed of small hairpins, card board and isinglass are used for the windows; the tile roof is made from corrugated board, while tinted sponges form the shrubbery. Clever little flagging came from Carmel's own chalk rock.

The model attracts a great deal of attention.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan LaRue of Sacramento are spending a few weeks in Carmel in a cottage on North Camino.

FOREST THEATER ACTORS WIN HIGHEST PRAISE

an detract from this undeniable ruth that Shakespeare is "good theater"—exciting, thrilling, poetic, riotously funny and unforgettably realistic in his character portrayals.

All of which supplies fine dramatic material for the talents of George Marion as the tragic Jew. This actor (probably the only man who ever stole a show from such a glamorous idol as Greta Garbo!) added another triumph to his long list of roles.

The production was directed by Herbert Heron, founder of the Forest Theater, who also played the part of Graciano. Others in the cast were Lloyd Weer as Basanio, Eugene Watson as Antonio, Ross Cowen as Launcelot, Tom Thieness as Old Gobbo, Lloyd Test as Salarino, Tom Crossthwaite as Solanio, Philip Walker as Lorenzo, David Cook as the messenger, W. J. Crabbe as Tobal, Ray Hamilton as Salerio, John Logan as Balthasar, Yvonne Castle as Portia, Eleanor White as Nerissa and Holly Smith as Jessica.

BARBECUE AT MATHIOT RANCH WAS A SUCCESS

Despite the high wind Sunday, the crowd gathered at Rancho Carmelo for a barbecue enjoyed the day thoroughly.

This beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. K. D. Mathiot is well laid out for picnicing and the modern barbecue pit made cooking the tender steaks a matter of only a few minutes. With the meat was served a delicious sauce, beans and coffee.

The crowd was made up of paying guests of the Alliance Francaise and about fifty invited guests of Mr. and Mrs. Mathiot.

Sergeant Trenbath, foreman of the Mathiot dude ranch, entertained with a fine lot of Houdini tricks and put his high school horse, Lady Jet through many tricks and performed on Canario, a jumping horse belonging to the ranch.

Cowboys double-tied and bulldogged and enjoyed themselves thoroughly and the pig races caused a great deal of wholesome fun. When eleven girls tried to drive eleven pigs through a gate, the first one through to get a prize, there were all kinds of complications. One girl picked up her pig and carried him, while another followed hers, sliding along on the ground after having been thrown down.

The greased pig refused to exert himself to any great extent and consequently was caught by all the contestants.

Anyway, it was a lot of fun and if you didn't go to this one, you better not miss the next chance you have.

CARMEL BAKERIES ARE ASKING COOPERATION

Carmel's Bakeries are falling in line with the president's program, making every effort to aid the National Recovery Act.

Perhaps you hadn't thought of it, but buying in your own home town will help materially in national recovery. And you not only help our president and our town but you help yourself. Take for instance, bread. When you buy bread from your local baker, you get fresh bread every day, bread that has not had so many exposures to the dust and dirt of the road. And you have the opportunity of going "behind the scenes," where in Carmel you will find your bakers using high score butter, pure milk, fresh eggs, high patent hard wheat flour and special cake flour—just what you use in your own kitchen.

Are you as sure of the bread that is "shipped" in?

Carmel bakers live in Carmel, they spend their money here, they pay their taxes here and raise their children here, and support all the local activities.

Country Club Scene of Bridge Luncheon

Mrs. Floyd Parton of San Jose, who is spending the summer in Carmel, entertained last week with a delightful bridge luncheon at the Monterey Peninsula Country Club.

Those who enjoyed the affair were Mrs. Henry Martin, Mrs. Paul Lyon, Mrs. J. Derrol Chace, Mrs. Charles Richards, Mrs. William C. Bogen, Mrs. Clyde Miller. Mrs. David Foltz, Mrs. James Brand, Jr., Mrs. Maude Arndt, Mrs. Ella Pierce Breyfogle and Mrs. Mabel Russ.

BOB DALTON SCORES SEVENTH VICTORY

Bob Dalton, fighting son of Jack Dalton, popular Carmelite, scored his seventh straight victory this week, when he gained a decision over Joe Manella of Salinas, in a three-round amateur bout.

Young Dalton has been matched with Al Tiltie, one of the fastest boxers on the Peninsula, in a match at the Post on the 19th. Tiltie has been managed and trained by Tex West of Monterey, and carries a sock in both hands. He has to date won every scrap he has been in, so with Dalton's record of seven straight victories, this should be a match well worth seeing.
